

Neurodevelopmental Assessment

This information will tell you what to expect from a neurodevelopmental assessment.

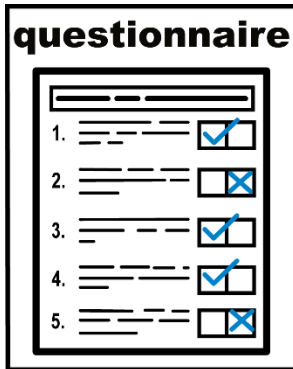

The neurodevelopmental assessment will think about your child's development and their difficulties.

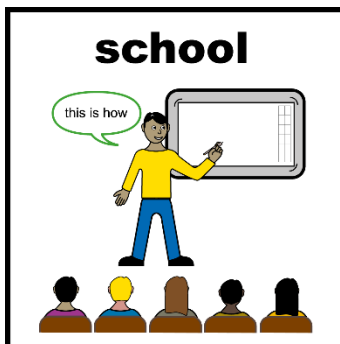

The assessment will help us to think about and decide whether your child has ADHD, Autism, both ADHD and Autism, or neither.

School Age Neurodevelopmental Assessment

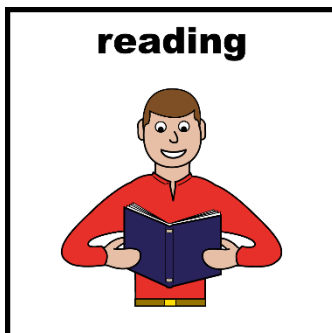

Before Assessment

Please complete the questionnaire you are sent with your letter and send it back to us.

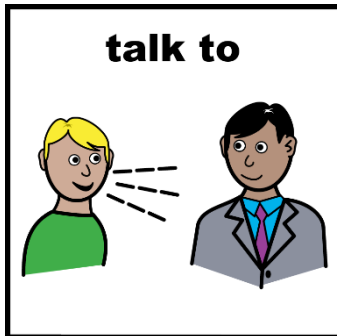

We will send a questionnaire to your child's school.

We will read all the questionnaires before your first appointment.

School Age Neurodevelopmental Assessment

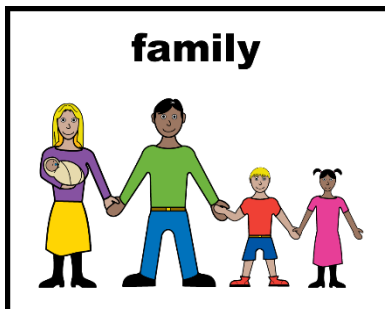

During Assessment

We will have an appointment to talk to you about your child's progress and things they find difficult.

We will have an appointment to meet your child. There might be more than one of these appointments.

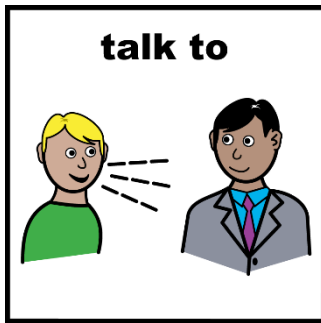

Sometimes we invite the child's family into the appointment too. We may visit your child in school.

Our assessment team will meet to talk about all the information we have about your child.

School Age Neurodevelopmental Assessment

Finishing the Assessment

We will have another appointment with you to explain the assessment decision to you.

Our assessment team will write a report. We will agree with you who should see this report.

The assessment will then be finished.
